Investment Philosophy and Objective

The Fund will pursue long-term capital growth primarily by investing directly in precious metals and in equity securities of global companies which produce or supply precious metals. Investments may include securities of companies engaged in the exploration, mining, or production of precious metals, precious metals purchase warrants and fixed income securities convertible into precious metals securities. The Fund may invest a portion in equity securities of smaller capitalization companies. The Fund may invest more than 10% of its assets in precious metals (gold and silver). The Fund seeks to maximize returns by investing in well-managed companies through successful exploration and development; seeking out low-cost, low debt producer with outstanding assets and reviewing all investment decisions systematically. The portfolio advisor attempts to reduce risk by diversifying by country, sector and by individual securities. The Fund may use derivatives for hedging purposes.
